

What is ISR?

International Snowmobile Racing, Inc., (ISR), is a service organization established to provide for the needs of individual clubs and organizations that conduct snowmobile races in an organized and safe manner. Our guidelines have been developed over the past thirty-one years working with our member organizations.

Rather than charging a fee based on organization membership, we offer the services for a flat yearly fee or graduated fee for one, two, three or more races.

Remember - The most important aspect of snowmobile racing is safety. ISR's goal is to help you conduct safe, well organized and fun events.

ISR RACE RULES PROCESS

THIS DIAGRAM LISTS THE GROUPS AND INDIVIDUALS THAT ATTENDED RACE RULES MEETINGS AND DETERMINED THE RACING RULES FOR THE 2013-2014 RACING SEASON. ALL AFFILIATES HAVE INPUT INTO THE RULES. ONLY PREQUALIFIED FULL AFFILIATES THAT ATTEND THE RULES MEETINGS VOTE ON FUTURE RULES.

The role of ISR is to compile, publish and enforce these rules. ISR enforces these rules and also negotiates and develops an umbrella insurance policy, which is available to all ISR affiliated snowmobile groups.

Meetings with the manufacturers and the Specialty Manufacturers and Distributors Group committees are held to develop recommended rules changes to the rules committees. Technical information is gathered and manufacturer tech specification sheets are then developed, updated and maintained. This information is provided to full affiliates.

The rules that are published in the International Snowmobile Racing Yearbook are developed and enacted by the various race rules committees each spring at a series of race rules meetings and rules phone conferences.

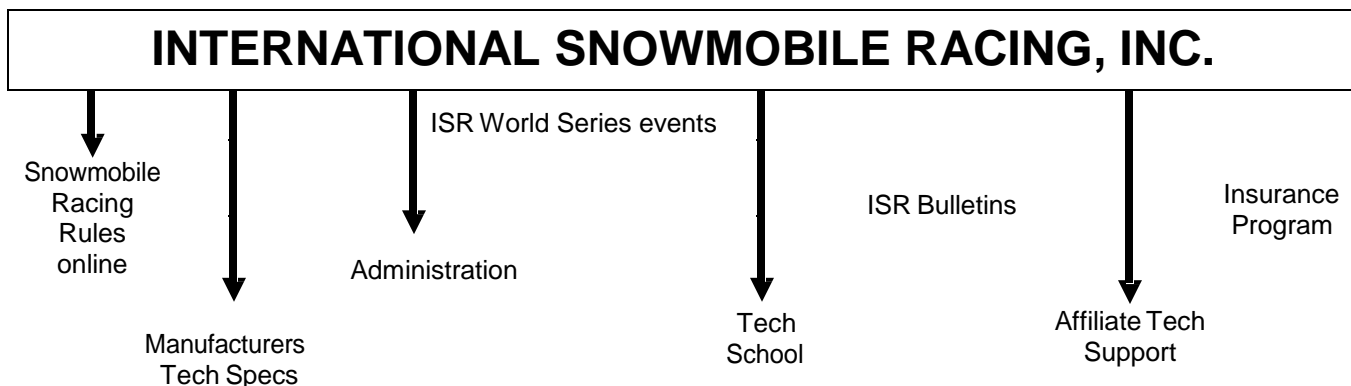

International Snowmobile Racing does not vote on rules.
